Post Code	Frequency of visits	A	B	C	D	E	F	G	H	How did you hear about the villages	What facilities have you used	What do you value most and other comments	Contact
												I do not have a most (valued) and it depends on my reason for the visit on the day but overall can be summed up by the lovely landscape walking in the open air through the natural surrounding areas of the city (nature reserves, meadows, along the waterways etc.) exploring the local histories, and how they all connect together, visiting the local establishments (nothing quite like a country pub) Having the small villages and towns expanded would ruin the quaintness that goes with them, they begin to lose their individuality and become much the same as the others, 'requiring' more amenities also results in the increase in possibilities of chains , again losing the individualness of these places. Once they are all the same as each other the reasons to visit begin to disappear and we may as well stay in our own little areas which would be a devastating outcome.

Castor Hanglands for wildlife and plant life and the scenic walking paths from the villages to this wonderful area. The view from the river to Castor Hanglands. Historical interest and St Kyneburghas and its situation in he village and how it relates to the areas Saxon and roman history/archaeology. The relative isolation of Castor and Ailsworth from the rest of Peterborough is very attractive. They remain individual villages with their own characters. A clear close-knit community is very apparent. An excellent choice of footpaths and quiet roads for walking.
